The schooner Sophronia, Gales of New York, sailed 2d October for the leeward. Three days previous to sailing the British government brig Dominique brought in two French brigs loaded with sugars, captured off Martinique. The British merchant fleet from England were off Dominique when the Sally came out.

Left at Basseterre (Guad.) brig Triton, Beck of Portsmouth, A. W. the only American vessel in port. Two schooners under Swedish colors belonging to St. Bar's, were brought into Basseterre as prizes on the 11th October. The Wasp, Kemp of Norfolk, owned by Messrs. Alexander, Wilson and Cunningham of that place, and the English sloop of war Prevost, were both driven out of Basseterre during the gale of the 9th September, and have never since been heard of. SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 8.

A Hint to those concerned.

A number of the Grocers of Alexandria who pay license for retailing liquors in small quantities, feel themselves considerably aggrieved by the quantity of shops permitted to exist that pay no license, and are determined to present all such as may come under their observation in future.

We learn by Capt. Dunbar, says the New-York Gazette, that Lord St. Vincent, with 5 sail of the line and a frigate, was cruising off Lisbon, besides 4 sail of the line at the mouth of the harbor. The United States frigate Constitution, was at Lisbon, sparring.

A letter from Lisbon of the 20th of September, received at New-York, observes, that the situation of that country was in a critical state.

New-Jersey.—Joseph Bloomfield has been re-appointed governor.—A. D. Woodruff, attorney-general.—W. Helmes, T. Newbold, H. Southward, E. Dary, J. Lambert and J. Sloan are elected members of congress. In the legislature are 26 federalists, and 27 democrats; the former 1 majority in the council, and the democrats a majority of 2 in the house of assembly.

Louisiana.—An acre of corn in Louisiana, produces on an average, about 22 bushels, which at 75 cents, is 16 dollars 50 cents. An acre of cotton produces, with the same labor, 500 lbs. clean, which at 30 cents, is 50 dollars. An acre of cane, will produce 1000 lbs. sugar, which at 8 dollars per C. is 80 dollars, add 1 lb. molasses 7: 50—87: 50. It is therefore concluded that it will be best for the Louisiana to import their grain. It has also been thought most proper to import the beef and pork.

The Tennessee Gazette of the 11th Oct. published at Nashville, says "Colonel A. Burr left this town on Monday last the 6th October, for Kentucky."

Extract of a letter from Calcutta dated June the 4th.

On Tuesday night the 13th ultimo the American brig Ann, captain Robertson, belonging to Charleston, S. C. was wrecked on the Pulicat reef, a little to the northward of Madras. It appears that the captain being bound to Madras, and finding himself to leeward of his port, attempted to beat to windward, and supposing this reef to be considerably to the southward of him, he stood into seven fathoms water, and then tacked, but before the sails could be trimmed the vessel struck. An anchor was immediately carried out, and after some hours she was got off, but so much injured that she very soon after went to the bottom. The boats were hoisted out in time to save the crew.

Two negro men, one belonging to D. A. Smith, Esq. Cashier of the Mechanics' Bank, and the other to Mr. William Hawkins, have been apprehended and secured for robbing the bank on the 29th ult. The manner of their detection was somewhat singular. They endeavored to prevail on a person in the employ of Mr. Hawkins to sign some of the blank notes which they had stolen, and promised him a handsome reward for his trouble. This circumstance was communicated to Mr. H. who immediately represented the case to proper authority, and had them taken in custody.

Their plan seems to have been otherwise well concerted, as they had purchased a variety of clothing, &c. with the intention of going to sea. We have not been able to ascertain the amount of finished notes stolen, but understand it does not exceed 200 dollars. Notes in the sheet were found to a considerable amount.

(Balt. Ev. Post.)

Extract of a letter from an American gentleman at Bordeaux to his friend in Baltimore, dated Sept. 7, 1806. Communicated for the Evening Post.

"Lord Lauderdale is yet in Paris, ostensibly negotiating for peace. But the hostile movements and supposed projects of both parties render the rupture of those negotiations probable. It is rumored and believed that an English fleet and army are already in the Tagus; and with the design of removing the prince and a part of the wealth of Lisbon to the Brazils. On the other hand a French army is supposed to have entered the little devoted kingdom.

"The emperor's youngest brother has arrived in a single 74 in a port near Brest.

"Since the confederation of the Rhine has established a wall of fire on the frontier of France, and the Tyrol secures Italy, few doubt that Spain and Portugal will undergo changes.

"The troops of the grand army from Germany are marching to Paris, whence, after the "Fete" and grand fair of the equinox, they will resume their station at Boulogne.

"What a consolidation of power have they not accomplished within a single twelvemonth!

"Great Britain is triumphant on the ocean; but I foresee her maritime riches will from time to time become the prey of a maritime force far inferior. A very subordinate quantum of power has already operated with serious success. A few frigates have swept the coast of Africa, and likewise totally demolished the whale fishery for this year. All the fleets in the universe are incompetent to insure against such depredation. To indemnify herself and to open sources of trade adequate to the support of a vast naval establishment, Britain must, I conceive, attempt the vast project of opening South America. Her estate being deeply mortgaged, she must seek the means of paying off the incumbrances, or at least the annual interest. If the greatest part of the ports in the old world are to remain shut against her, she must try to open ports in the new. This reasoning, bottomed on her necessity for a maritime ascendancy, I consider solid and irrefutable."

SATURDAY NIGHT.

By a Journeyman Mechanic.

Now, wife and children, let's be gay,
My work is done, and here's the pay.
'Twas hard to earn, but never mind it,
Hope fear'd the sheaf, and peace shall bind it.

Six days I've toil'd, and now we meet
To share the welcome weekly treat
Of feast and tea, of rest and joy,
Which gain'd by labor cannot cloy.

Come, ye who form my dear fire side,
My care, my comfort, and my pride:
Come now, and let us close the night
In harmless sports of fond delight.

To-morrow's dawn brings blessed peace,
And each domestic joys increase,
To him who honestly maintains
That course of life which heav'n ordains.

"Tween rich and poor, the difference what!
In working, or in working not?
Why then on Sunday we're as great
As those who own a vast estate.

For, on to-morrow's happy day,
We shall work less perhaps than they:
And though no dainties I afford,
What's sweet and clean will grace my board.

For which, and ev'ry blessing giv'n,
Thankful we'll bow the knee to heav'n.
In God's own house our voices raise,
With grateful notes of prayer and praise.

These duties will not interfere,
Or cloud my brow with thoughts severe,
But still leave time enough to spend,
To take a walk, or see a friend.

Sweet's the tranquility of heart,
Which public worship does impart,
And sweet's the field, and sweet's the road
To him whose conscience bears no load.

Thus shall the day, as God design'd,
Promote my health, and prebend my mind.
On Monday morning, free from pain,

Cheerful I'll go to work again.
Our life is but a lengthen'd week,
Through which with toil for rest we seek;
And he whose labor well is past,
A joyful Sabbath finds at last.
